FOREWORD

The Bulletin of Zoological Nomenclature was founded in 1943 to serve as the Official Organ of the International Commission on Zoological Nomenclature. Prior to that date the International Commission had been gravely handicapped by having at its direct disposal no effective means of bringing to the attention of interested specialists problems relating to zoological nomenclature submitted to it for decision and in consequence had not been able to secure as wide a range of comments as it desired on such applications before it took decisions on the issues involved. The prime object of the Commission in establishing the Bulletin was therefore to provide a means for publishing applications submitted to it for decision, together with comments received from specialists on the applications so published.

2. As was inevitable, war-time printing and other difficulties made the appearance of Parts of the present volume both slow and irregular. By the beginning of 1947 there had however been published eleven Parts and the present volume was thus virtually complete. Of these Parts, Part 1 dealt with introductory matter, three Parts (Parts 2, 4, 6) were concerned with administrative and financial problems and one Part (Part 3) (of much larger size than the foregoing Parts) was devoted to the Official Record of the Proceedings of the International Commission at its Session held at Lisbon in September 1935, to the Report which the Commission then submitted to the Twelfth International Congress of Zoology and matters connected therewith. The remaining six Parts (Parts 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11) were devoted to applications submitted to the International Commission and comments thereon that had been received from interested specialists.

3. The six Parts devoted to applications submitted to the International Commission contain 117 papers relating to 96 applications. Of these applications nineteen raise questions of the interpretation of the Règles or are concerned with proposals for their amplification and extension ; two relate to the names of Classes (a subject not dealt with in the Règles) ; six deal with the status of various books under the Règles, while one raises the question of the date as from which a particular book is to be treated as having been published for the purposes of Article 25 ; the remaining sixty-eight applications are concerned with individual nomenclatorial problems. These applications range over practically the whole field of the Animal Kingdom, but are very unevenly distributed, almost two-thirds being concerned with the names of insects. The Classes, names of genera or species in which form the subject of these applications to the Commission, are the following, the number of applications submitted in respect of names belonging to each Class being shown in brackets (parentheses) : Rhizopoda (1) ; Sporozoa (1) ; Ciliophora (1) ; Anthozoa (1) ; Graptolithina (3) ; Trematoda (3) ; Crustacea (1) ; Insecta (44) ; Arachnida (1); Gastropoda (3) ; Pelecypoda (2) ; Cephalopoda (1) ; Brachiopoda (1) ; Echinoidea (1) ; Caphalaspidomorphi (1) ; Aves (1) ; Mammalia (2). The forty-four applications relating to the names of insects were distributed over the various Orders as follows : Coleoptera (6) ; Diptera (2) ; Hemiptera (14) ; Hymenoptera (19) ; Lepidoptera (2) ; Neuroptera (1).

4. All the applications published in the present volume were considered by the International Commission on Zoological Nomenclature at its Session held in Paris in July 1948. The Official Record of the Proceedings of the Commission at that Session was published in 1950 in volume 4 of the present Bulletin and for convenience of consultation and for purposes of record there has been added at the end of the present volume a table giving a reference to the page in volume 4 where will be found the record of the decision taken by the International Commission in regard to each of the applications published in the present volume.

Secretary to the International Commission on Zoological Nomenclature.

By FRANCIS HEMMING, C.M.G., C.B.E.

(Secretary to the International Commission on Zoological Nomenclature)

All the applications published in Volume 1 of the Bulletin of Zoologica Nomenclature were considered by the International Commission on Zoological Nomenclature at its Session held in Paris in July 1948. Final decisions were then taken on the great majority of those applications, a few only being deferred for further consideration. The decisions so taken are recorded in the Official Record of Proceedings of the Commission at its Paris Session which was published in 1950 in Volume 4 of the present Bulletin. In order to link those decisions with the applications published in the present Volume, the following table has been prepared, in which is given the name of the author by whom each of those applications was submitted (Column (1)), the title of the application (Column (2)), and the reference to the page in Volume 4, where the decision taken by the Commission on that application is recorded (Column (3)).

Table showing the name of the author of each application published in Volume 1 of the "Bulletin of Zoological Nomenclature," the title of each of those applications and the page in volume 4, where the decision taken by the International Commission on Zoological Nomenclature thereon is recorded.

page 113. Line 27 : after " Brünnich ", substitute the date " 1771 " for the date " 1772 ". Dr. Curt Teichert (Research Lecturer, Department of Geology, University of Western Australia) has reported (in litt., 14th January 1946) as follows :— "The date of publication of Brünnich's Zoologiae Fundamenta is 1771, not 1772 as usually stated. The University of Copenhagen, Denmark, possesses two copies of Brünnich's book, one dated " 1771 ", the other " 1772 ". Apart from the difference in date, the two copies are identical. Perhaps only a limited number of copies was printed in 1771 and only the re-issue of 1772 attained a wider circulation." This correction was reported to the International Commission on Zoological Nomenclature when at Paris in 1948 it considered the late Mr. R. Winckworth's application relating to the status of names in Brünnich's Zoologiae Fundamenta ; the corrected date of publication for this work was adopted by the International Commission in the Official Record of Proceedings at its Paris Session.
